

LORD GIVE ME STRENGTH

I'm still alive, slightly older
But my music keeps me strong
Burning inside, giving and hoping
That I've never done it wrong
Memories rushing in as vivid as a day
Lord give me strength to keep them

I'm still alive, playing and singing
With a voice that's getting rough
Often locked up in my world where
Being alone is just enough
Happiness sowing and then harvesting the joy
Lord give me strength to keep this

I've been wandering and roaming
I've been searching all the land
For glimpse of light and rainbow glow
For the warmth of human hand
I'm still dreaming and believing
And I won't change till I fall
Lord give me strength to keep this

I'm still alive, I'm not a magician
I'm only a father and a man
Sing me a song, fellow musicians
And let us all now have some fun
Time hasn't changed me and my spirit's still the same
Lord give me strength to keep it

... Let me keep it
